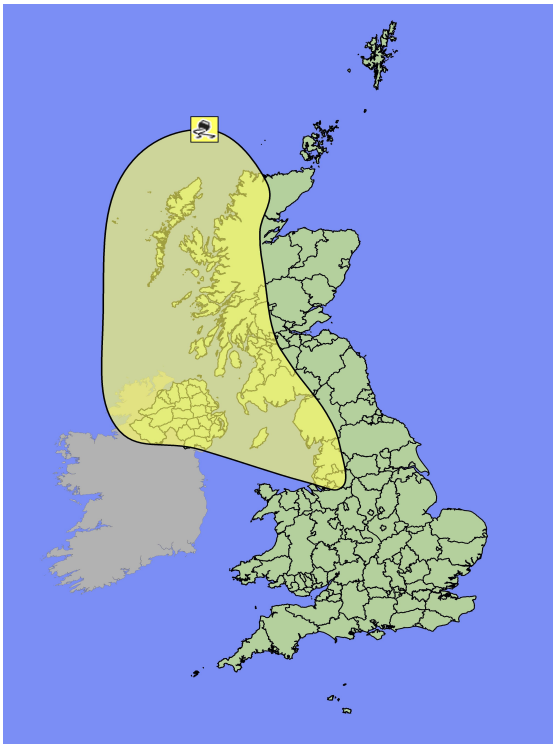
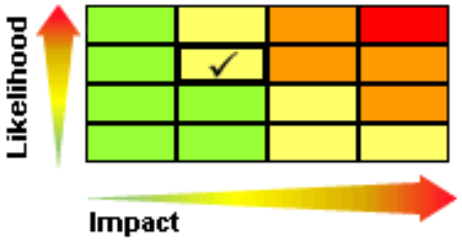
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Fresh accumulations of snow are expected on hills, of about 1-5 cm above about 200 m, though to lower levels over northwest Scotland. Ice is the main concern though, particularly on untreated roads, as rain and sleet falls onto sub zero surfaces.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 21:00 on Fri, 09th Dec 2011 until 11:00 on Sat, 10th Dec 2011

Roads are expected to turn icy on Friday evening and Saturday morning as showers continue, falling as snow mainly on hills above 200 m over southern Scotland, Northern Ireland and northwest England, though to lower levels at times particularly over northern Scotland.
